8 MONCLER PALM ANGELS | MIAMI STATE OF MIND

Italian luxury and street culture collide in Miami for a 90s Americana inspired story.

The diverse and hedonistic spirit of 90s Miami is channelled by the latest 8 Moncler Palm Angels story, photographed by Philadelphia-born shooting star Quil Lemons and featuring supermodel, philanthropist and forever icon Naomi Campbell.

Francesco Ragazzi's enduring idolatry of American culture plays out in a sports-inspired collection that's elegantly framed by Miami's sugary shores. Campbell models a louche approach to the sporting theme: the striking gold Keon jacket gains an almost indignant allure paired with gold track pants, a sun lounge and her own defiant gaze.

The collaboration with Tod's is highlighted throughout the shoot; the flame and intarsia Gommino loafers winking humorously from deckchairs and hot basketball courts, whilst the winter Gommino boots dangle from diving boards and seaward jetties. It's a playful take on a collection that is perfectly summarised by the palm tree Moncler logo – even in winter, summer is always a mood.
